At the end of the schematic design phase we will present some rough sketches to you for approval. These sketches will provide you with the opportunity to verify that we have correctly interpreted your desired functional relationships between various activities. The sketches will also provide you with a general indication of the exterior design dialogue. Completed and attached for reference~~

At this time we can discuss potential cost savings, energy efficiency, and constructability improvements commonly know as "value engineering". At the end of the design development phase we will provide you with drafted to-scale drawings that will illustrate the project, as it would look when it's constructed. These drawings will very specifically define the site plan, floor plans and exterior elevations. It is important that you provide input to us at this time as the design development drawings are used as the basis for the construction drawings.

Construction Documents: Upon your approval of the design development drawings we will prepare construction drawings for the scope of work described herein using software by Autodesk®. When the construction drawings are complete you will have sufficient information to secure contractor bids and to submit to authorities having jurisdiction for the required permits. Revisions to the construction documents for any changes requested by you after construction documents are 50% or more complete will be considered an additional service to be compensated as outlined below.

All submittals are to be reviewed and approved by the General Contractor and checked by the fabricator or vendor prior to submittal for review by RSA. It is the Contractor's responsibility to check his own submittals. The submittals will be returned for resubmittal if a cursory review shows major errors which should have been found by the general Contractor's checking. Shop drawings are the Contractor's and Fabricator's work product. The Contractor and Fabricator are solely responsible for any errors in their shop drawings. RSA is not engaged to perform detail checking of the shop drawings nor will be responsible for any errors in or missing materials from the shop drawings.

Jobsite Safety

RSA shall not supervise, direct or have control over any contractor's work nor have any responsibility for said obligations, duties and responsibilities of the any contractor. RSA and its personnel have no authority to exercise any control over any construction contractor or its employees in connection with their work or any health or programs or procedures.
